

Klemen Šali, also known as Mono Scarves and his smaller project Mini Scarves, is a sound explorer and noise producer from Maribor. He expands his collection of instruments by inventing new sound sources and tinkering with vintage devices. In addition to creating music, he conducts workshops on synths and circuit bending. He also contributed as a technician and show host for Radio MARŠ.

His latest prominent project was the multimedia book Klastrfak by poet Dejan Koban, released last year, for which he provided a DIY noise soundtrack. Less than a month ago, new material from Mono Scarves was released on a split album he shares with his fellow Maribor artist Vinko Ficko, aka Chemomorph (known as Mada Poka on the psy-trance scene). The shared album was released by Terraformer Research Facilities, a label run by another established noise producer, Dejan Požegar, who performs under the pseudonym Neo-Cymex.
